DELIBERATE MEDIOCRITY IS A HERESY AND A SIN.

-- Elton Trueblood

A CLASS INDIVIDUAL

CLASS IS having manners. It is saying 'thank you' and 'please.' It is complimenting people for every task done well.

CLASS IS treating every other person as you want them to treat you in a similar situation.

CLASS never makes excuses for one's shortcomings, but always helps others bounce back from their mistakes.

CLASS NEVER brags or boasts about one's own accomplishments, and never diminishes the achievements of others.

CLASS DOESN'T depend on money, success or ancestry. The wealthy aristocrat may never know the meaning of the word. But the poorest man in town may radiate class in everything he does.

IF YOU HAVE CLASS, EVERYONE WILL KNOW IT. If you are without CLASS, good luck—because no matter what you accomplish, it will never have meaning.
